MOOD BOARD

Noun

"a collection of pictures or text, among other things, that help to evoke a feeling,a project style or concept."

EDITOR'S LETTER

Welcome to the latest issue of Mood Boards.

Our cover image comes from an eclectic set of awesome black and white images from photographer Paul Grew and model Ashleigh Rae. You'll find the full set in our Cover Pictorial on page 50. Our back cover comes from The Dream by photographer Lazar Alin with model Ioana Gaspar. The clever use of dirty framing combined with the timeless film feel of the images really caught our eye. You can find the set on page 58.

We love that Mood Boards has attracted some great photographers and models during the course of our previous issues, and the trend continues with photographer Diane Rose's set The Dance of Love. Dance and photography go hand in hand to create great imagery, but when you add the colours and shapes of nature, you really have a set of eye catching images with two great dancers in the form of Tracey and Jim. Regular contributor photographer Andrey Lukovnikov is featured with a set of images with model Anastasiia Melnyk called Orange Orange and the contrast between Anastasiia's suit and the blue summer sky really makes this set pop. Dasha is a set from photographer Irina Saveleva Brooklyn with model Daria Kondratieva and some snail friends. You can also see the snails love posing for the camera. Take a Walk on the Wild Side from photographer LauraAnne Photography featuring models Samantha Shapley and Liam Mason combines a compelling emotive storyline with a glimpse of some wonderful locations to create a captivating set of images. Lightness comes from photographer Lisa Ustinova with model Svetlana using the lovely natural light and forest surroundings to create a beautifully ethereal set of images straight out of a fairy-tale. We close out the issue with a set from photographer Violet Rankin with models Jayde Rankin and Michael Janish called Vintage that not only invokes a style of a by-gone era, but also wouldn't look out of place in a Wes Anderson movie.

Thank you to those creatives featured in this month's issue and please continue to submit via our Kayvar page.

Till next month.
